Thank you for your interest in our resources.

The sole purpose of creating these resources stems from a passion to raise the standards of learning and assessment materials within Children’s Services to help develop a new generation of highly qualified, informed and reliable childcare professionals and Educators. Thank you for considering joining us in our endeavour.

We specialise in resources for Children’s Services – that’s all we do!

This means we are focused on our industry standards and committed to providing resources with a high volume of learning and engaging content. Our resources are written by Early Childhood Educators with 25+ years’ experience and extensive knowledge of the VET sector.

We are here to support you. Please call with any questions you may have about our resources. We are also looking for organisations which would like to become part of our CRA Industry Consultation Advisory Group. If you would like to be involved, please let us know. It includes:

- Giving us feedback about our resources
- Recommended improvements
- Being recognised as part of this industry group and the ability to use information as part of your ASQA audit.

Contact Us

For more information regarding our products and services or to arrange a meeting with Karen or Brie for assistance in implementing the course, please contact us via phone or email.

Learning Guides

Writing these resources began from a need to supply learners with relevant, current and engaging content for Children’s Services. We wrote our Learning Guides with the both the industry and learner in mind, ensuring that we covered all of the necessary information and that it is displayed in a modern, easy to read format. We chose to use PDF as our medium as it allows us to quickly update, modify and distribute our Learning Guides to ensure everyone is up to date.

When you read our Learning Guides you will notice how we break up the content into smaller chunks and how complex concepts are broken down with real-life examples, reflection and writing exercises and a positive, strengths approach to learning.

It was important to us that we wrote to encourage life-long learning and we have strong advocacy for children’s rights and development. We encourage and incorporate diversity, cultural competence and learning styles within our books to ensure everyone is catered for and included.

Features of Our Learning Guides

- Easy to read format (large text, pictures)
- Links to Videos, Interactive Websites
- PDF. Format for uploading to Learning Management Systems (LMS) i.e. Moodle
- Helpful icons throughout to keep learners engaged
- Includes constant references and links to NQF, NQS, National Regulations and Legislation etc.
- Resources Page for trainers
- Validated by our Early Childhood Educators, Professionals and Trainers currently working in Children’s Services
We also provide a familiar easy to follow format with all of our Learning Guides, and we cater for different learning styles but providing written text, access to visual media and external websites/links. We also include a number of reflective and practice exercises.
Helpful Websites
When you see our computer icon, you will be asked to go to the specified link for additional information.

Your Turn!
When you see our pencil icon, you can write in your Learning Guide or on another piece of paper. The exercises are for your learning only and are not part of the assessment.

Check your answers
When you see our memo icon, you can compare your ideas, from completing activities, with ours. These provide some feedback to you help assess your understanding of the topic.

Additional Booklets
To help with understanding some of the foundational concepts in Early Childhood and to extend knowledge, we have written the following short guides as quick reference booklets for learners to refer back to!

- Theorists Made Easy
- What are Skills, Concepts, Learning Processes and Dispositions?
Assessment Materials

We provide a whole range of assessment materials in 3 different modes of study to ensure you are covering all of your bases when collecting evidence and marking assessments.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)

What Format Are The Assessment Documents?
Assessment tasks are available in word document so you can change them to suit your learner’s needs.

How Are The Assessments Written?
Assessments are written using elements, performance criteria, performance, and assessment requirements, core skills and incorporate all NQF.

Are The Assessments Validated?
Yes. Assessments are validated by Educators in our profession to ensure validity and relevance. As an RTO, we use the same assessments to ensure they work with our learners. The Authors are also Early Childhood Educators.

What Format are the Learning Guides in?
Learning Guides are available in soft copy (PDF). When purchased in a package, these can be printed by your RTO, uploaded to your online learning platform and distributed to your learners and trainers as required only if RTO has purchased a Full Package (ongoing licence). They must remain in PDF without changes. You are not permitted to pass CRA Learning Resources to any other third party without obtaining CRA permission and licences to use the materials. Single User Licences cannot be printed or transferred/opened on more than 2 devices.

Can I Change The Learning Guides?
No. The Learning Guides are validated and cannot be changed or transformed into any other file without a specified licence from CRA to do so. However, if you would like additional information included in a unit of study or feel changes are needed, please let us know so we can update guides to meet your needs as part of our continuous improvement. We do offer co-branding and are happy to discuss your needs.

What if the links in learning guides stop working?
All learning guides stand alone. Links to video is there for additional support. The name of the resources is also provided so learners can search for the video on the web. All NQF documents are on the web and it is a requirement of the training package that all learners know how to access and use these documents directly. You are welcome to join our partnership package if you would like to receive ongoing learner’s guides as they are updated.

Who Owns The Copyright?
CRA remains the owner of all material and issues a licence to your RTO to use the material. The right to use materials cannot be on sold or given to any third party. It is only for your direct students.

What happens if I Breach Copyright/CRA Licence Agreement?
CRA utilises a range of technologies to track users of our resources. CRA reserves the right to take legal action against any RTO or individual for breach of copyright and licencing agreement. This action will also include notification to the governing body (ASQA) of the RTO’s breaches of copyright and Standard 1. Unlawful on-selling of materials or obtaining goods by deception will result in criminal and civil action.

Who Writes CRA Resources?
Authors of CRA’s Learning Materials are all Early Childhood Professionals dedicated to providing high quality education and care to young children. They believe the level of education and care for children is only as good as an Educator’s training. As an RTO with Children’s Services on our scope, we have an obligation to children to provide training which provides Educators with the latest knowledge, understanding and passion to support the learning of children.

Why Are CRA Sharing Their Resources?
As an RTO which specialise in Children’s Services, we have been concerned about the standards of quality of training materials available to purchase. As such, we have written all of our own materials for the last 5 years. As you are probably aware, ASQA and the NVR standards require that learners access comprehensive, quality learning and assessment materials. This is a must for our profession and the children and families we work with. Our aim is to raise the standard of Children’s Services training in Australia. Having said that, we operate as a separate publishing company and have removed all links to our RTO in our materials so you can provide them to your learners with confidence.
